

Home Brew Kettle

Brewing kettles are the most important piece of your home brewing equipment. This is where the ingredients are added and where the fermentation takes place. That is why we have a range of home brew kettles available for you, with kettles for both the novice and professional alike.

Why choose us for brewing kettles

At Core Brewing Concepts we are passionate about home brewing and we want you to only have the best products. The products we sell to you are the same products that we ourselves use:

- All kettles come in polished stainless steel.
- Our supplier has 10 years of experience in the industry and pays great attention to detail.

We are also able to lower the prices for these high quality products, achievable through negotiation with our supplier to come to the most cost-effective arrangement.

Home brew kettles available for you

There are many home brew kettle products you can choose from, and if you're having trouble we'll be happy to help you. Remember, we love the concept of home brewing, and we want you to have the most suitable products.

We have products available for both professional brewers and for those just starting:

- 34 Liter Economy Brewing Kettle (a budget option suitable for the beginner)
- Hot Water Liquor Tanks (for those more serious about home brewing, comes in sizes of 34-283 liters)
- Conical Fermenters (also suitable for more serious home brewers, comes in sizes of 28-208 liters)
- 283 Liter Mash Tun
- 113 Liter Hop Back
- 34-74 Liter Brew Kettle

We ship home brew kettles all over Australia.

Also listed in the online catalogue are brewing ingredients such as hops, brewing yeast and all grain brewing supplies. We also sell brewing recipes that are easy to follow and don't contain a lot of jargon.

Feel free to contact us for more information about home brew kettles.